"So this is what they teach you in summer school."

Every day it's decisions, decisions.

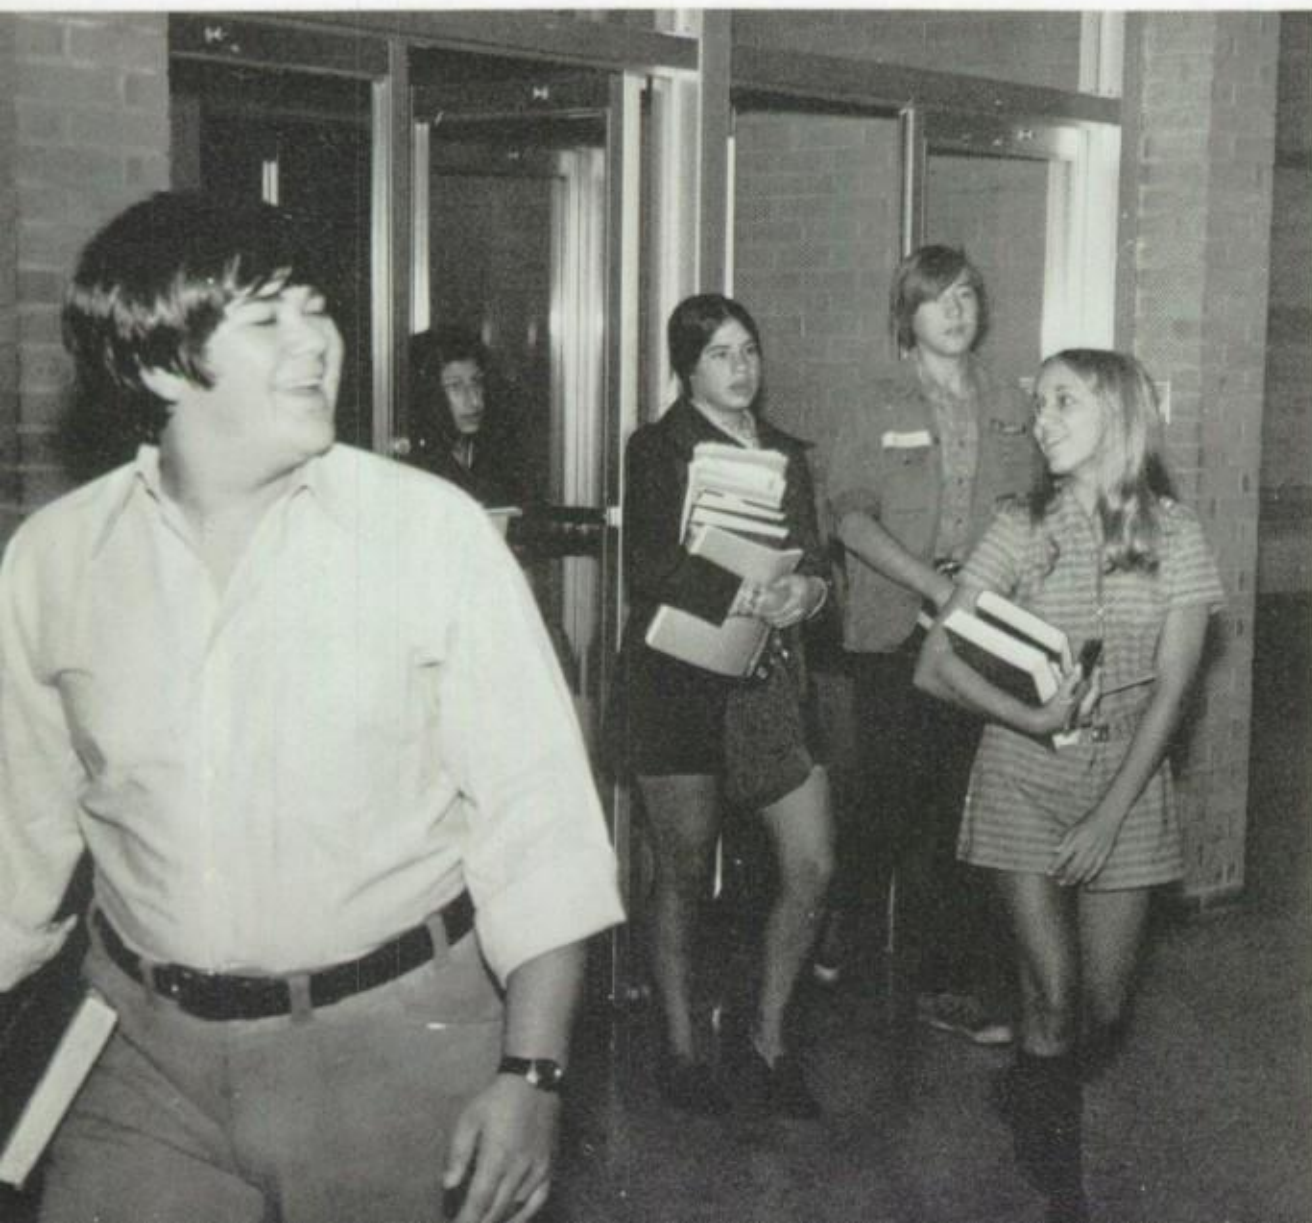

June 14, 1971
 the long, hot, summer
 frogs
 sleeping during the movies
 tests upon tests
 not having to do a research paper clocks that never seem to move the fifteen minute break
 car pools formaldehyde playing cards
 typing to music
 candy and pop
 boredom

The break is the best part.

Hallway Perspective

What a burst!

It's hard to escape from those groggy students after a busy weekend

 a telephone call to a sick friend getting a ride to school
 being late for class crowded stairways
 a locker that won't open
 not having a hallway pass falling up the steps

"Hello, this is Mrs. Sabol. Mary Ann can't come to school today."

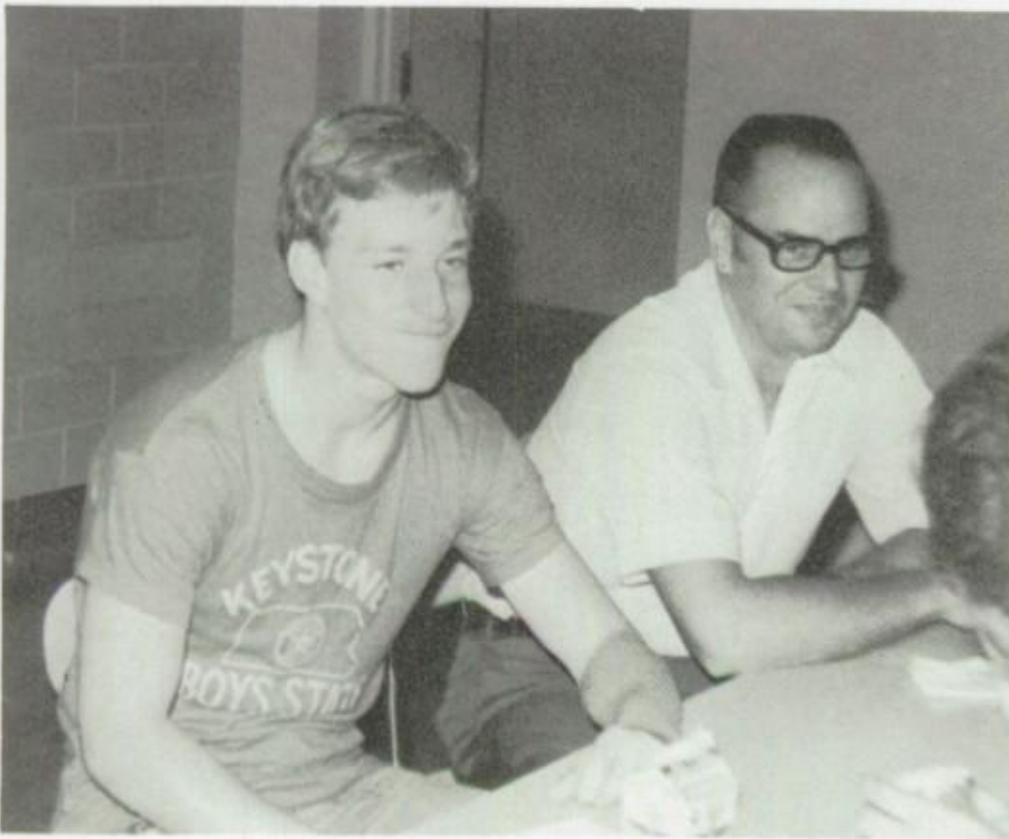

Monday morning blahs.

Guess who's coming to dinner?

faces

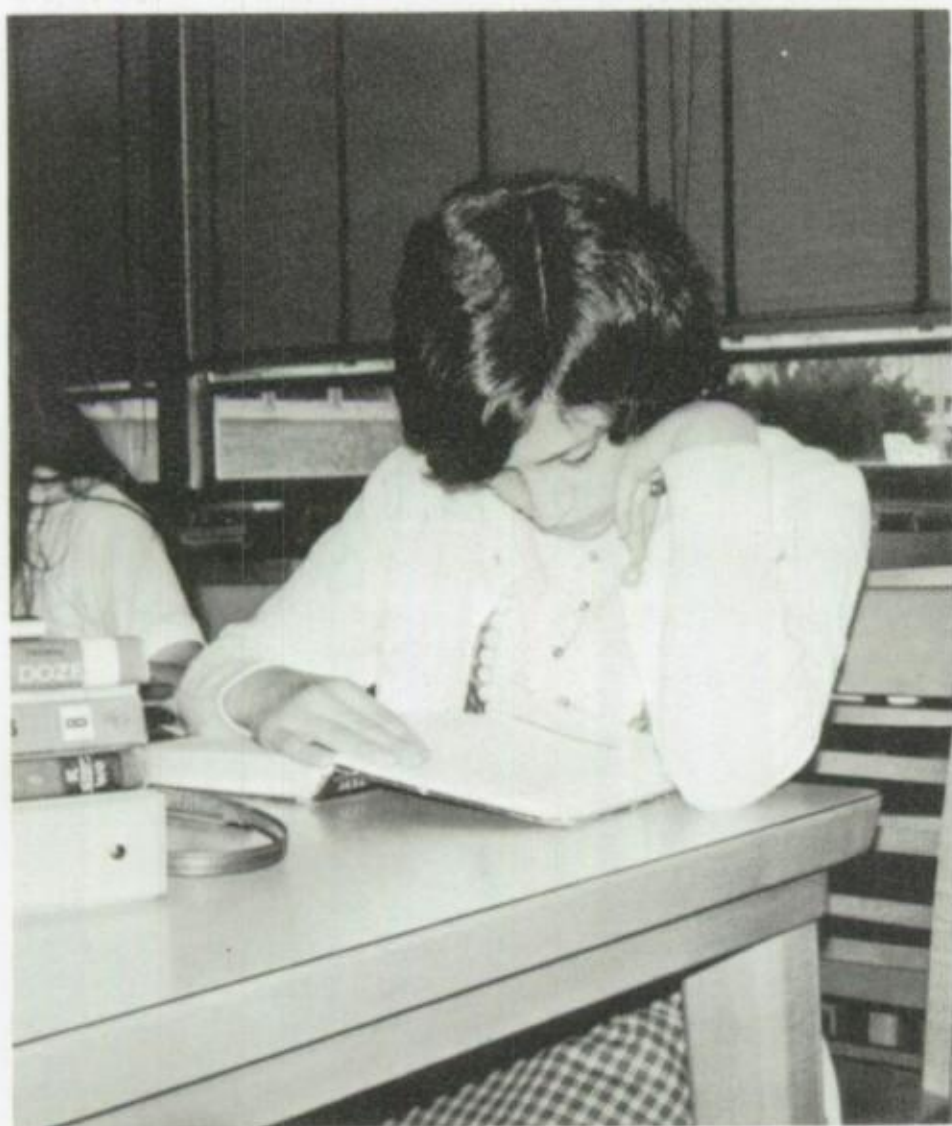

My life has been filled with so many of them-
faces of smiles,
frowns,
of kids I knew.

We went to kindergarten,
were in brownies,
traded Beatle cards and dreams,
built tree houses and cabins together.

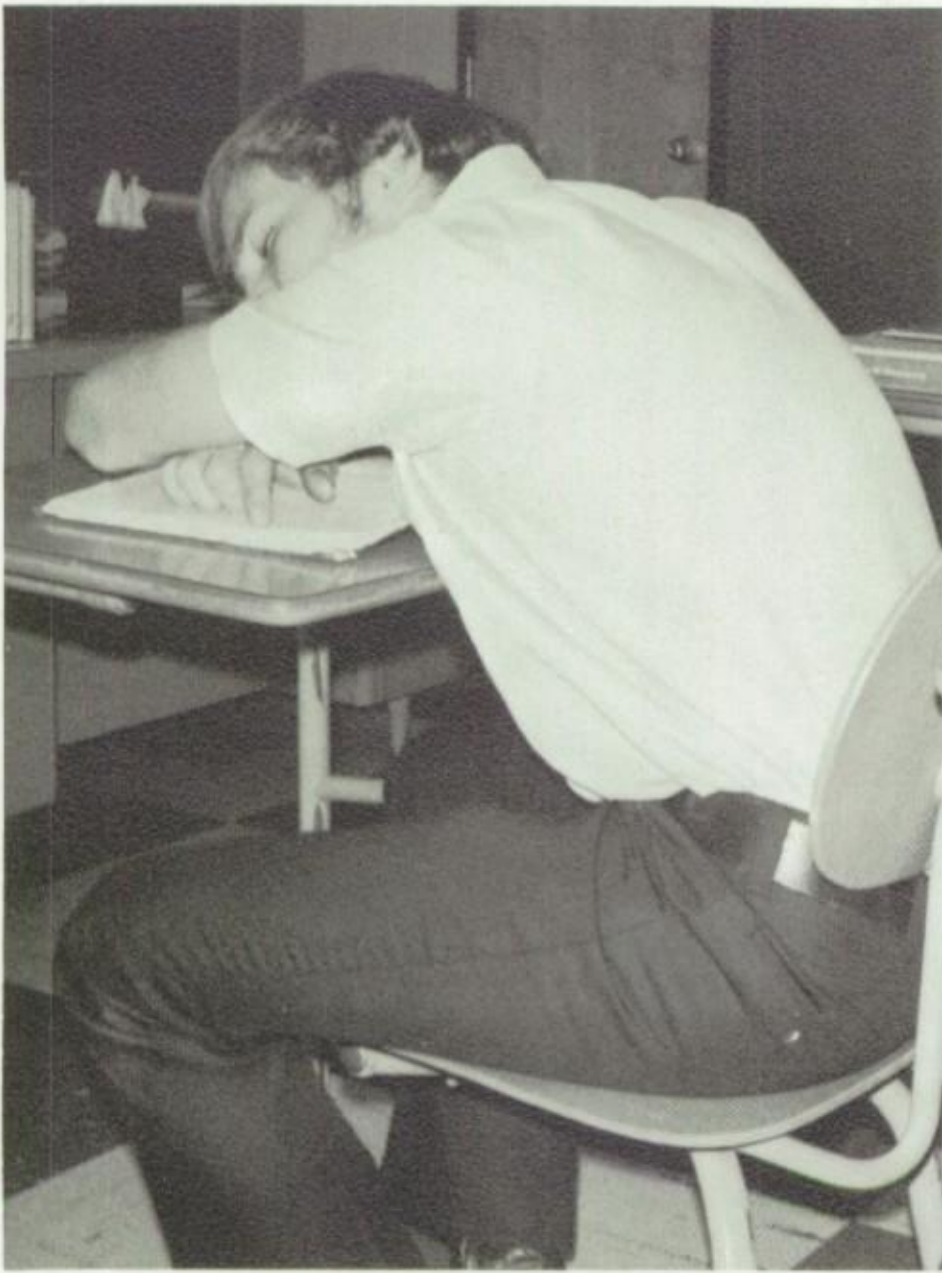

We share our past and will build our future.
These faces I knew and shall remember forever.

Preparing for

Ready, set, go!

a Victory

I've been devoted to a lot of things in my lifetime — to getting stars on my papers, and winning a game of jacks or hopscotch.

Now my values have changed and I work for them, striving for perfection. They are worth sore muscles and late hours, headaches and prayers — to break a record, score a point, or add a little happiness to someone's day. These are the goals that motivate me, turning hopes and dreams into reality.

Spirit Shows at Pep Assemblies

An outdoor pep rally in the sunshine . . . that unbelievable tricycle race . . . the "munchkins" dancing to "The Stripper" . . . the rising pep meter . . . the dead spirit in the coffin coming alive . . . autographed basketballs . . . leaving class early . . . cheering your loudest . . . V-I-C-T-O-R-Y that's Neshannock's battlecry.

The beauty contestants representing area schools dance the cancan.

Miss Neshannock, Dave Furst, is crowned queen.

This year the spirit is alive! Got the spirit? Uh huh. Let's hear it; ok!

Kevin Borman trots down the runway.

The junior varsity cheerleaders in a skit exclaim, "You're what?"

Hours of Preparation Go into a Successful Play

"No Crime in the Streets" . . . 8:10 . . . students rush out on stage with switchblades . . . running through the aisles . . . the story unfolds . . . Dan Piccuta, Joan Shaw, Dianne Janis, Deb Schweikert, and Arden McGaffic had major roles . . . the action grew more intense with the help of good acting . . . the play is over; the cast party begins at Blair Snyder's house.

Mr. King, using his directing skills, shows the gang members how to use the switchblades.

Kathy Oesterling paints a part of the set which helps to give the play a more perfect atmosphere.

Blair Snyder helps the stage crew set up.

Lisa Forney displays her talent as a make-up artist.

"No Crime in the Streets" Proves

The use of switchblades makes the action of the gang fight more realistic.

Dianne Janis says, "Sorry mom (Deb Schweikert) — I didn't mean to go through all that again."

Frankie (Dan Piccuta) and Lew (John Davidson) don't just give threats.

Vicki Germani pleads with her son, Steve Miller. "Talk to me tonight. I don't know you 'cause we don't talk no more. Only yell."

"Frankie Dane you're not talking to the garbage in the streets now, you're talking to your brother (Rick Silverman)!"

The gang laughingly salutes the social worker (Arden McGaffic).

Frankie and his girlfriend (Joan Shaw) secretly meet.

Happiness Is Being

"Snoopy's Christmas" . . . the highlight of the evening was the crowning of Liz Davis, the 1971 Snow Queen . . . it wasn't a white Christmas . . . couples nevertheless enjoyed the annual Snowball Dance . . . disc jockey Boots Bell spun the records . . . Boots awarded complimentary albums to special couples . . . the kissing booth . . . red carnations on the tables . . . "Snoopy's Christmas" ended at the stroke of eleven.

Emmy Daugherty, 1970-71 Snow Queen, happily gives up her crown to Liz Davis as she becomes the 1971-72 queen.

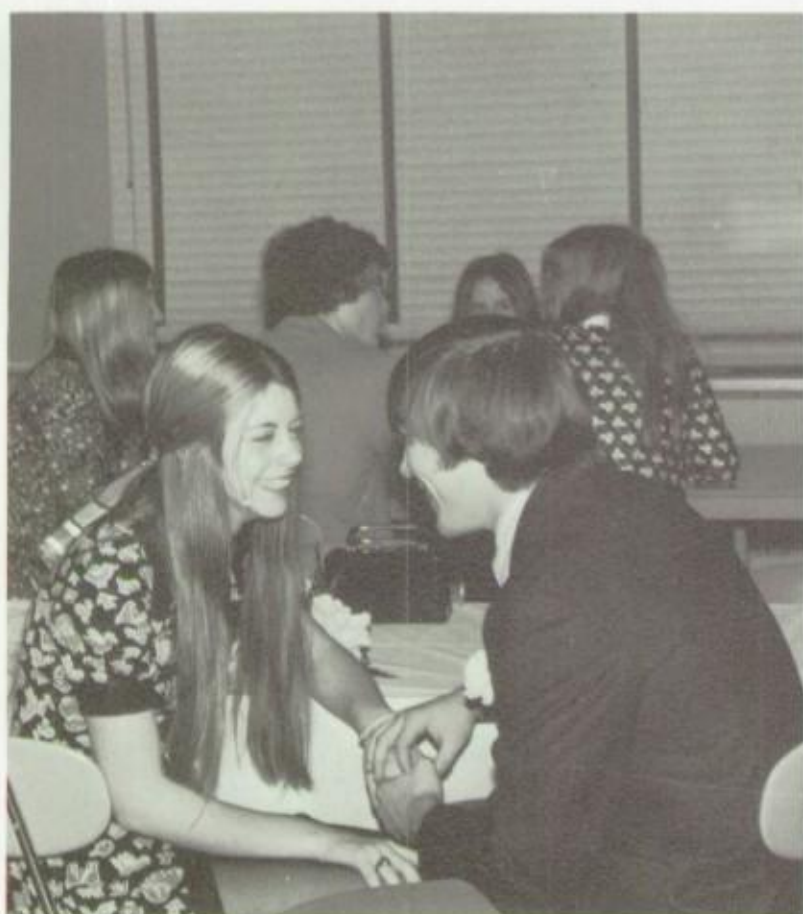

Liz smiles radiantly with her escort Bruce Smith.

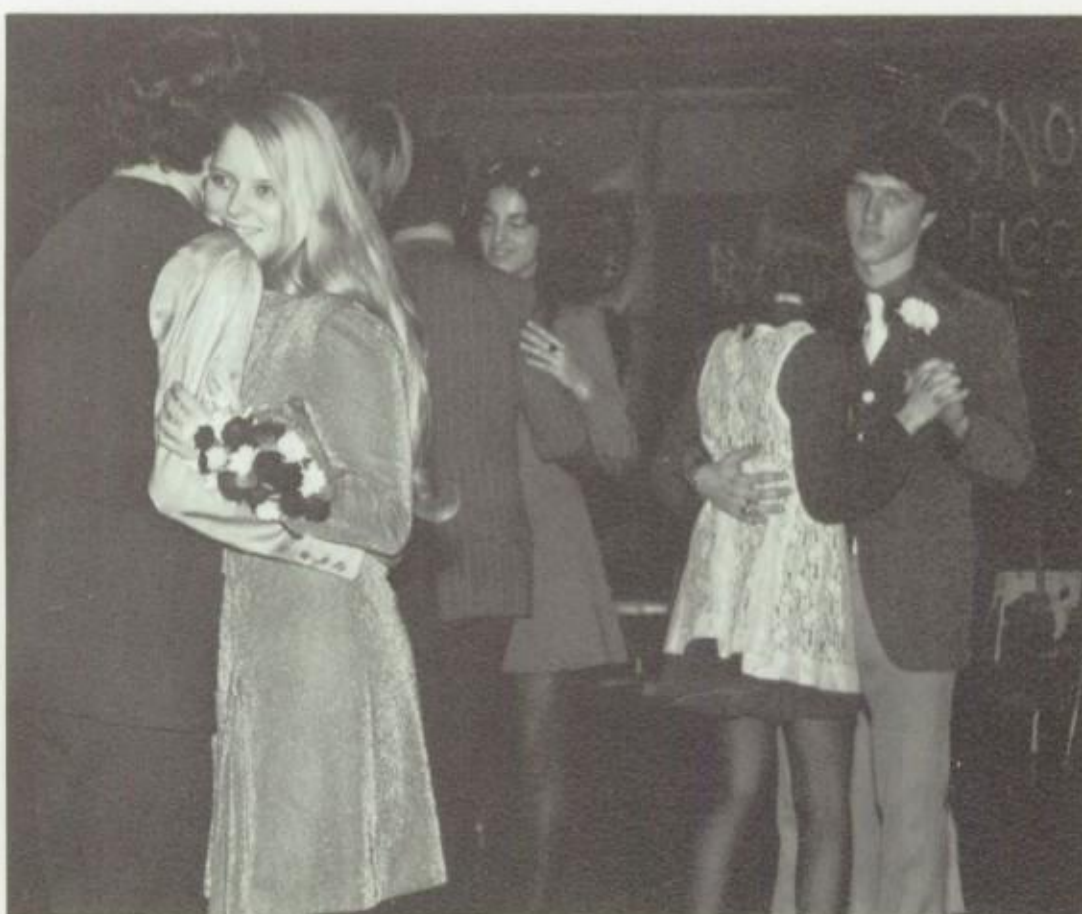

Is Bruno laughing at Boots or is Boots laughing at Bruno?

Crowned Snow Queen

Another of the happy couples who enjoyed the evening is Kay Carlson and Rick McCracken.

The Swedish exchange student, Sheila Salhberg, seems to be enjoying her first American school dance.

Liz looks dreamy as she dances with her court in the Queen's Dance.

Midwinter Mini

The Concert Band plays both old and new tunes.

Mr. Kaba does his usual fine job directing the band.

An excellent musician, Bob Stratton, performs a trumpet solo accompanied by the Combo.

Mr. Rupp, an asset to the music department this year, directs both the choirs and the band.

Concert Exuberant

The A Cappella and Concert Choirs with the Concert Band perform a medley from the musical, "Oliver."

The A Cappella Choir sings a variety of classical and modern music.

The A Cappella and Concert Ensembles sing beautifully as the A Cappella Choir watches.

February 24, the music department presented the first Midwinter Mini Concert Assembly . . . Mr. Rupp and Mr. Kaba directed greatly . . . Bob Stratton performed the instrumental solo while Doug McIltrout performed the vocal solo . . . a spirit-filled concert . . . bending up and down . . . cupped hands . . . One of the greatest things to be gained in a club is the long-lasting friendships that are created. Man has made many advances through communicating. He has been able to cross the mountains of poverty, ignorance, and degradation. The progress in these fields can be measured in visible terms. However, the friendships that communicating have created can never be counted.

Miss Otto Helps Innovations

with Senior Activities

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS: D. Janis, historian; F. Dial, vice-president; Miss Otto, advisor; P. Kemp, president; N. McClure, secretary; T. Massaro, treasurer.

Being class president for the Innovations of '72 has meant a lot to me. It has helped me to learn more about responsibility and the work that can be done when you work together. Our class, in my opinion, has lived up to its name by innovating many new ideas for our school. I hope the students that follow us will remember the Class of '72 for its accomplishments, because I know we'll never forget Neshannock.

Sincerely,

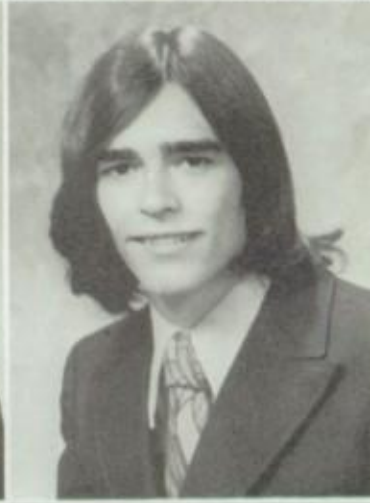

Paul Kemp
Senior Class President

Rotary Exchange Student

Until October, Neshannock students were under the impression that there would be no exchange student. To our delight, blond haired, blue eyed Sheila came to us from Sweden. She was gladly welcomed by seniors at a party in her honor. Sheila was certainly a welcome surprise.

Sheila's spare time is used up by extra-curricular activities and assignments.

This year's Rotary Exchange Student is Sheila Sahlberg.

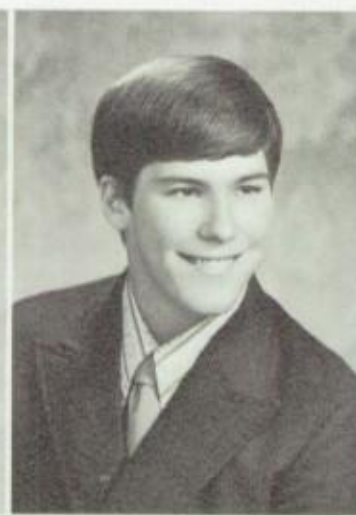

Sheila in the past year has become an active Innovation, participating in clubs and activities.

Sheila finds Problems of Democracy a completely new adventure.

THE MAKING OF A YEARBOOK

For those who will come after me, I wish you well, and know this "making" will stand among the great experiences of your life. You will learn to depend on others, temper your enthusiasm long enough to listen to different ideas, control your impatience with others' tardiness and imperfections, hustle and worry as you never have before, and you will leave some of yourself between the covers.

The others I have depended upon are a countless number. I must express, however, my sincere gratitude to and for:

the section editors who helped put it all together;

the cooperation of club advisors, coaches, faculty, and administration;

the sales force for the record sales they achieved;

the business community, friends, and senior parents who contributed;

all the dedicated typists who retyped, retyped, and retyped;

the assistance of all seniors, and suggestions of the entire student body;

Wally Bender who was always there photographing whenever and whatever;

Dave Hamilton and John Koukal who helped take pictures;

Debbie Carothers and Debbie Wallace for handling book and picture sales;

Cindy Graham and Kathy Julian in the busy, busy business office;

Marilyn Sainato for her excellent artwork;

Mr. George Getty, Mr. Ron Bennett, Mrs. Toni Chiaro, and Elda Mason — these people from Seavy's Studio rose above and beyond the call of duty;

Mr. David Evans from Consolidated Graphic Arts Who helped us correct unbelievable mistakes;

lastly, a most SPECIAL man — Mr. Joseph Thomas, who, in less than one year, completed a kind of metamorphosis in our growth cycle with such tender insight, we never even felt it.

I have tried my best to give you a yearbook filled with memories and records of every school event. I hope you are happy with it and will cherish this adventure of yourself. The book is dedicated to YOU. I know deep in my heart, whenever I look back, I will always feel: 1972, it was a very good year!

Peace and love,

Emmy Daugherty
